Genevieve Tarlton Hearon Respite Recovery Building

Austin Travis County Integral Care cordially invites you to a special building dedication ceremony recognizing the life-long work of Integral Care's past Board Chair, Genevieve Hearon. In honor of her local and national commitment to advocate for the rights of people with mental illness, Integral Care's Board is naming our newest behavioral health residential facility the Genevieve Tarlton Hearon Respite Recovery Building. Hearon was appointed in 1995 by the Travis County Commissioners Court and served as a trustee until 2010.

Hearon is known to many as a one-woman powerhouse, media expert and lobbyist for education and positive change. Among her many achievements, she has spearheaded the Texas and Austin Alliance for the Mentally Ill and founded Capacity FOR JUSTICE, an organization that advocates for fair judicial treatment of criminal offenders with mental disabilities. Hearon has received numerous awards for her humanitarian efforts, most recently from the National Council for Community Behavioral Healthcare with the prestigious Lifetime Achievement Award for Volunteer Leadership.

Join us for this special naming event. A variety of unique evidence-based programs for Travis County residents through collaboratives with the City of Austin, the Texas Department of State Health Services, Travis County Adult Probation and the Travis County Commissioners Court will be available at this facility. The event is free and open to the public. Light food and refreshments will be served.
